NOTICE OF REMOVAL.

S. PERRY MILLS,
BARRISTER & SOLICITOR,
Has removed to the offices recently occupied by Mr. Wm. Pottinger Langley, over

From Granville.

During the past two years the population of this village has increased considerably, the addition to the school going children within a year being twenty-five. These belong principally to the families of men employed by Mr. J. H. Gillespie in his logging camps.

The ship that arrived recently at Hastings, to load with lumber for Shanghai, sailed into the harbor without the aid of a tug.

The Moodyville and Hastings mills are both under orders to run full time. Their starting up will make business very brisk on the Inlet. It is reported they have large orders on hand. Men are being hired to work in the logging camps at fair wages.

Mr. J. H. Gillespie has a contract from Messrs. Croft & Angus for two million feet of logs, which he is now engaged in taking out on the North Arm, which is reported to be the best timbered section of land on the Pacific coast.

The eighty acres now being cleared, between Granville and False Creek, is about finished. The improved appearance to the locality some would scarcely credit unless they visited the place. Arrangements are being made for grading the streets and otherwise improving the land, so soon as the logs are burned off.

Mr. Joseph Manion has erected a new hotel at the junction of the New Westminster and False Creek roads; another is being built near the bridge, while at the bridge the large brewery is about completed. Preparations are in progress for the erection of many fine buildings, between the bridge and the Inlet. A number of visitors arrive daily. They are greatly pleased with the site of the future railway metropolis on this coast. Once a move is made by the railway company in their work, business will begin to look up.

The erection of a large public hall is talked about. It will be of brick and a modern structure in every respect.

Considerable real estate is changing hands. The figures obtained are considered fair. Owners of property think their lots cheap as compared with prices asked in established centres, such as Toronto, Montreal, Chicago and San Francisco. Buyers are hanging off awaiting the C. P. R. company's location and their terminal buildings.

Mr. H. V. Edmunds is likewise erecting an hotel at the end of the bridge on the Westminster road.

The crops on the North Arm, especially those of Messrs. Hugh Boyd, McKee, McLerrie, Faulkner, McDonald and others are very promising, and the indications now are that the yield this season will be large.

Gossip from Toronto.

Joseph Rymal, ex-M. P., is seriously ill from erysipelas in the legs.

The Canadian Press Association this year will make a trip through the White Mountains, Boston and New York.

Hon. John Costigan is now in St. Charles hospital, Ottawa, recovering from his indisposition.

George Snyder, who represented North Grey in the Commons for many years, died the other day at Owen Sound of heart disease.

Montplaisier, Tory M. P. for Champlain, has resigned his seat to become inspector of weights and measures for Three Rivers.

The Scott Act has carried the counties of Lincoln and Middlesex by large majorities. It was rejected in Perth by about 50 majority.

There are four constituencies now open in Ontario, where contests are pending for the local legislature. It is not expected that the government will carry more than two of the number.

Mr. Robert Ferguson, of Framesville, Ontario, was elected by acclamation last week to represent East Kent in the local legislature, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late D. McCraney.

W. Hall and Robert Fox, the parties who attempted to utter forged circular notes on the banks in Montreal, were sentenced by the chief justice to twelve and six years respectively in the penitentiary. Hall is a New Yorker, and has been living by forgery, for which he served eight years in his native State. Fox is an Englishman, and got off with a lighter sentence than his companion, on account of his age being close on seventy.

Mr. Alexander Sommerville, familiarly known as the "Whistler at the Plough," died suddenly in this city last week. The deceased was a Scotchman by birth; had served a term in the Scot's Greys; had been engaged in some conflicts under Sir De Lacey Evans. Mr. Sommerville resided in Canada for a number of years. He was a talented, brilliant writer, and well known throughout Ontario as such. Of late years his productions have lost the brilliancy which at one time characterized them, and death found him in straightened pecuniary circumstances, brought about by his unbounded generosity and large-heartedness.

Cannot Find Her Husband.

The New York Herald of the 13th inst. says: Margaretha Clement, who, with her two young children, arrived here on the 23d of May, on the steamer Westphalia from Holstein, reported to the Castle Garden authorities yesterday that she was unable to find her husband, and asked them to take an interest in her case. She stated that before leaving her home she had received a letter from her husband, Detlef Clement, asking her to come to America and make her home in Victoria, British Columbia, Canada, where he was living. Since her arrival here she says that she has written to the address given by her husband, but has received no reply from him. Some of his Canadian acquaintances have told her that he has gone to California.

Accepted his Defeat as a True Canadian.

At the reception given to Mr. Edward Hanlan in Toronto on Tuesday evening, in replying to a toast, Hanlan said he had always rowed honest races, and had accepted his defeat by Beach as a true Canadian sportsman. He intended again to visit New South Wales where he was always royally treated, and although he knew that Beach was probably the finest specimen of an oarsman he had ever seen, he also knew that his Australian friends would back him again to row Beach for any amount of money.

A Dark Page in Canadian History.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau, in seconding the motion granting aid to the C. P. R. company by the government said that the scheme of building the C. P. R originated from two ideas—the necessity of defending the country, and the desire of developing the great Northwest country. He said that the failure to fulfill the contract with British Columbia was a dark page in Canadian history.

FRESH BLOOD WANTED.

The Undoubted Richness of this Country—Onderdonk's "Squeezing" Process.

An interesting letter has reached us, says the Toronto "Monetary Times," of the 19th instant, from a gentleman, a former resident of Ontario, who is now settled at Barkerville, British Columbia. This place is in the Cariboo district of that province, something over one hundred miles from the boundary, and rather north of the latitude of Yellow-Head Pass. The writer offers to wholesale merchants in the eastern provinces suggestions as to the desirability of their opening branch establishments in the western section of that province, say at Kamloops. Although it is true, says our correspondent, "that almost the entire wholesale trade of British Columbia is now done in Victoria, yet after the opening of the Canadian Pacific Railway through the mountains, an establishment at Kamloops should be able to command all the trade to the north in the mining regions, as well as south of the railway."

The district from which this letter is written, we should explain, lies north of the Quesnel Lake, and the settlements of Barker, Richfield, Camerontown, are all near Bear River and Lakes, and not over forty miles east of the Fraser River; Quesnel, on the Fraser, is also on the main waggon road with telegraph line, which leads north from Chilliwhack. Victoria is 300 miles away to the south-southwest, while Kamloops, on Kamloops Lake, near the bend of the Thompson River, where the railway, hitherto running westward, turns southward, is only about 160 miles.

"We have been feeling the effects," continues the letter, "of the grinding Onderdonk monopoly in the matter of freight, &c., but hope soon to be relieved from that. But slow freight—very slow—from Victoria costs us from ten to twelve cents per pound, while on all express goods we have to pay twenty-five cents per pound from Victoria." Mr. Onderdonk has certainly "squeezed" the people of the west to the last degree, according to all accounts, and there is no wonder that they look forward with longing to the time when his reign as contractor-operator of that part of the railway is over, and the Canadian Pacific makes more reasonable terms. The mining industry is not at present in a satisfactory condition in the province. Indeed, in Cariboo it seems to be, as our correspondent puts it, in a low state. Not that the mining wealth of the country is in any degree exhausted, for "the Chinamen are taking out every year enough gold to make many a white man wealthy, and there are yet many creeks whose hidden wealth has never yet been fathomed." Besides this there is the wealth in quartz still to be developed, and this must be great. What is needed, declares our friend, is "an influx of young, fresh blood from Eastern Canada, and some eastern capital to aid in bringing out the undoubted riches of this country."

NANAIMO NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We Nanaimoites are at present unable to portend the outlook. One day business seems to have arrived once and again at its normal standing, but, presto, it changes, and, like the weathercock, round to zero it veers without assigning any cause or reason. The coal mines seem to be at opposites. While one company is working almost full time, the other is doing a very small quantum thereof.

The railway, I believe, is still being constructed, for I saw in the Free Press a complaint against the obstruction of the streets of the town—otherwise we we should probably have forgot the existence thereof. The same paper informs us of the discovery of a fine seam of coal a short distance from the railway. It will probably repeat itself repeatedly ere long, as that is no news to a number of your readers here.

Our new school board has decided to act with discretion rather than by impulse—a wise decision. They are to be congratulated on having such an able corps of teachers and one which has so successfully led the scholars on to the present high standard. It is to be hoped they won't forget to let well alone.

You will be surprised to hear of our sulphur springs, only one and a half mile from the steamboat landing. The writer in the Free Press of this supposed to be wonderful discovery, seems in ignorance of another similar spring 300 or 400 yards behind the Catholic cemetery, at which place some other enterprising man may build baths if he chose to do so.

We of Nanaimo are told that the opposition of steamboats will end on the east coast route when this month ends, and that the fares will be put back to the old, old rates of the defunct Wilson G. Hunt.

There are several of our townsmen off over the back bone of Vancouver to find, if possible, something metalliferous. May success attend them. It is the opinion of many here that a good thing lies hidden in the southwestern hills. A fair and energetic prospect may divulge the secret, and open out a golden rival to the wealthy "black diamond."

Examination of the Mill Bay Branch of Shawnigan Schools.

The semi-annual examination was held on Friday afternoon, 19th inst., at the Mill Bay branch school. The scholars acquitted themselves creditably; but the want of an additional teacher and re-division of the district is severely felt. Under the present arrangement the teacher has to travel six miles morning and evening during the week of school at the further branch. The enrollment respectively is 23 and 26 pupils, in all 49; too much for one teacher. The seating at the latter place is very unsatisfactory. There are no maps, save one, of the province. The Bench branch was to be examined on the 27th inst.

Another Valuable Tract of Land.

A gentleman who a short time ago visited Jordan river, which empties into the straits of Juan de Fuca, found quite an extensive tract of land eligible for settlement, consisting principally of meadow. He looks upon it as being first-class in every respect, and from what he saw he is convinced that there are a number of sections which would make excellent farms. There are many such spots on this island, which, with pluck and such energy as is displayed in the east transforming the wilds in o the waving green fields, will be found to make happy homes for the industrious farmer.

Judge Senkler, of Hamilton, sentenced Tuttle to two years at Kingston penitentiary for the manslaughter of A. Tenbrook, at St. Catharines.

Alexander Finkle, barrister, of Woodstock, has been appointed County Judge of Oxford County.

THE WIDE WORLD.

THIS DAY'S DESPATCHES

A Young Lucretia Borgia.

Special to THE TIMES.

BARNESVILLE, S. C., June 27.—Rebecca Samuels, twelve years old, has been convicted of the murder of Lucy Graham, a six weeks old infant she was nursing. She soaked the child in a pot of concentrated lye. The only cause for the crime is that the prisoner killed the child to escape nursing. It is said this is the second crime of the same kind she has committed within two years. She appeared to be totally unconscious of what was going on during the trial, and twice went to sleep in the dock with her head resting on her hands. She has an innocent looking face and is apparently not in the slightest degree affected by the result of her trial. She has not been sentenced yet.

Chinese Going East.

Special to THE TIMES.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 27.—The exodus of Chinamen from California to the east has begun. A number of Celestials passed through Union in this State yesterday, and this morning there were 38 more on the way from San Francisco to New York. They seemed to be in fairly prosperous condition in the west, as they were all dressed in native costume. One of them said there were too many of his countrymen in California, and that a great many of them had decided to try the Eastern States. They say the Mellican man is down on them in California, and from those in the east they receive fair treatment.

Mexican Editors' Press Excursion.

Special to THE TIMES.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The Mexican editors arrived here by special train from St. Louis this morning. The reception committee, headed by Mayor Harrison, met the party near Bloomington, where Mayor Harrison made a speech of welcome. The visitors will be taken to witness the races at the Washington Park club grounds this afternoon, and will attend theatre to-night. To-morrow they will attend divine service in the Roman Catholic cathedral, when the Archbishop Feehan will officiate.

To be Burned for Her Metal.

Special to THE TIMES.

BOSTON, June 27.—The old United States steamer Niagara was bound to Apple Island yesterday to be burned for her metal, and will probably light up the harbor for several nights to come. She has had an eventful history. She was built before the war, and helped to lay the first Atlantic cable; conveyed Minister Anson Burlingame to China; pursued the Alabama, and was otherwise serviceable during the war. She was originally of five thousand tons burthen, but was cut down. She was considered the swiftest vessel in the U. S. navy.

Chicago Cable Rates Reduced.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, June 27.—John McCullough returned from Philadelphia yesterday. His friends say that the great tragedian is growing worse so rapidly that day by day the increased weakness of his mind is observable.

Both Mackey-Bennett and the cable companies controlled by the Western Union Telegraph company have announced that their rates for foreign business at Chicago have been reduced to the same level as New York rates.

5,005 Men Slain in 500.

Special to THE TIMES.

LA LIBERTAD, via Galveston, June 27.—One thousand eight hundred Nicaraguans embarked here last night, homeward bound. At the battle of Santa Domingo 5,500 of Menendizto's men hemmed in 500 Nicaraguans under Talarar, who was wounded. They fought for 22 hours, then cut their way through Menendizto's line, losing 300 killed and wounded and taking the remainder into La Union in good order.

The Panic Passed.

Special to THE TIMES.

NASHUA, N. P., June 27.—The financial crisis has substantially passed, the new bank cashier having arrived by the last steamer from London. The public banks have resumed business with funds sent out from England. The deficit in bank amounts to about $170,000.

A Bank President Committed for Ten Years.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Jas. D. Fish, late president of the Marine Bank, was sentenced this morning to ten years imprisonment by Judge Benedict, in the U. S. court, for defalcations.

The New York Democrats Insulted.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The feeling here against the President's Custom House appointment is decidedly bitter. It is said to be a crying shame, and that the President has made a gross blunder. Madden, the Collector, has never done anything for the Democracy, and in appointing him the President has insulted the New York Democrats.

Appointments by the President.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The President to-day suspended Horatio C. Burchard, of Illinois, as director of the mint and appointed James B. Kimball, of Pennsylvania, in his stead.

Reciprocity Coming.

In the House of Commons on the 16th instant, the Hon. Peter Mitchell asked the government whether the statement that the American government and the Canadian cabinet had come to an arrangement by which no steps were to be taken by the Canadian government to keep the American fishermen out of exclusively Canadian waters until Congress meets next fall—under the hope that some arrangement respecting the fisheries may be arrived at, was correct. Sir John refused to make any definite statement, although he implied that the article was incorrect. He said he hoped to bring down some important papers bearing on the subject before the session closed, and intimated that negotiations were on foot between the Canadian and American governments and that not only the fishery question but also the prospects of reciprocal trade relations were being considered. The statement was received with applause.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla operates radically upon and through the blood, and is a safe, reliable, and absolute cure for the various diseases, complaints, and disorders, due to debility, or to any constitutional taint or infection.

THE POLITICAL MOVEMENTS IN LONDON.

Salisbury's Official Reception—Political Appointments—Gordon's Diary—Mr. Reilly.

LONDON, June 26.—The Marquis of Salisbury held an official reception to-day in the foreign office for diplomats accredited to the British courts. Among the distinguished ambassadors were Baron De Stael from Russia, Count Von Munster from Germany, Count Niger from Italy and Musurus Pasha from Turkey.

The Standard's Vienna correspondent denies the report that Austria declined to receive Mr. Reilly as American minister. He says that President Cleveland has not asked whether Mr. Reilly would be acceptable to the Austrian government, but it is believed that the President has reconsidered the nomination unprompted.

The first edition of General Gordon's diary, comprising 10,000 copies, has been sold. General Gordon's private Chinese diary is announced for August.

The following additional appointments have been made: Under Secretary for the Colonies, Earl Cadogan; Under Secretary for war, Earl Doughmore; Solicitor-General for Scotland, Bannerman Robertson.

The Post says it is authorized to deny the report that Lord Salisbury telegraphed Lord Wolseley he was in full sympathy with the latter's views regarding the withdrawal from Egypt, but the government were unable to continue the expedition.

Baronetcies have been conferred upon George Errington, M. P., and Isaac Lawiathian Bell.

Following in Gladstone's Position.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 26.—The Journal de St. Petersburg, in an editorial, expresses respect and sympathy for Mr Gladstone. Referring to the new British Cabinet, the Journal says: "The Conservatives have the good sense to consider the necessity of the situation. The Marquis of Salisbury succeeds to the position already taken by Mr. Gladstone. The path to follow is broadly marked by the natural movement of history. The sense of responsibility and knowledge of Europe possessed by the Marquis of Salisbury will mould his acts according to the prevailing needs of the times and the respective positions of the several peoples. Russia, with respect to her interest and in view of her conciliatory policy, regards with calmness the accession of the new ministry."

Reception last Night at the Castle of Dublin.

Special to THE TIMES.

DUBLIN, June 27.—There was a much larger crowd of prominent people at the farewell reception of Earl Spencer to-day than was anticipated, the rooms being so densely thronged that it was difficult for those present to move about with any degree of comfort. The Earl, in the presence of the assembled guests, knighted Secretary Kaye and Commissioner Greene for the part they took in making the recent visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to Ireland a success. Every precaution was taken to prevent the Invincibles from perpetrating outrages, all packages destined for the castle being carefully examined before being conveyed inside the building, for fear they might contain dynamite. A large force was stationed in the court yard and numerous detectives in full dress suits mingled with the crowd. The streets, through which Earl Spencer will have to pass in going to the railway station en route to London, were lined with soldiers. The Earl is about starting on his homeward journey and the sun is shining brightly.

Rebels Against Chinese.

Special to THE TIMES.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 27. Advices from Tashkend, in Asiatic Russia, show that the rebellion against Chinese rule in Chinese Turkestan is spreading. Laborers have risen according to last accounts received from Kashgar, and had killed all Chinese officers and Chinese overseers and cut off all communication with interior of China.

Terrible Ravages by Cholera

Special to THE TIMES.

MADRID, June 27.—In the province of Valencia on Thursday, there were 524 new cases of cholera and 258 deaths.

Eighteen Miners Killed.

Special to THE TIMES.

BERLIN, June 27. A dispatch received from Saarbruck states that an explosion of fire damp occurred in the mine at Dudweiler, near Saarbruck, and eighteen miners were killed.

How the Queen Looks.

The queen, who looked, as I thought, extremely gracious, when Mrs. Astor and Mrs. White were introduced at the drawing room, says the London correspondent of the Chicago Herald, was the center figure in a setting of dazzling brilliance. Mixed with toilets inexpressibly gorgeous in hue, texture and ornamentation, white shoulders and rounded arms, were the varied uniforms of the men, in all the hues of the rainbow. The flashes of diamonds, the glitter of gold and jewels, the background of artistically draped and brightly colored walls, the gentle ripple of movement and the softly falling music dreamily echoing from distant corridors made up altogether a very satisfactory programme. The Queen, who is perfectly well aware that she looks her best in the shades of widowhood, wore black satin. From the regal coronet, which sparkled with hundreds of diamonds and pearls set in fine gold, flowed a majestic white tulle veil. The regal throat was encircled by a wondrous necklace of glorious pearls four rows deep, and in the tiny ears were diamonds emitting the purest rays. The royal person fairly dazzled with ribands, stars and orders; and I am free to confess, impudent republican though I am, that Victoria presented a queenly and majestic figure, on which the eye dwelt with instinctive respect. She is the picture of a wholesome woman who feeds well, sleeps well, thinks well, and is favored with a sound mind and healthy body.

The Laura Dainty Company.

The Portland News of last Saturday in announcing the appearance in that city of the above company, says: "The Laura Dainty Company that appear here at the New Market Theatre in 'A Mountain Pink' on Monday night next, come to us from the east heralded with a reputation second to none. This company have won a distinct reputation for their fine performance and excellent acting. Laura Dainty, who will be remembered here as an excellent, has developed into a star, by her grand impersonation of Sincerity Weeks in 'A Mountain Pink.'"

Address, THE TIMES P. & P. CO., Victoria, B. C.

J. C. McLAGAN, Manager.

MR. BLAKE'S speech on the Canadian Pacific resolutions was the greatest oratorical effort of his life.

MR. GEORGE STEPHEN, President of the Canadian Pacific railway, has assured HON. MR. NORQUAY, Premier of Manitoba, that the Manitoba South Western railway will be extended to White Water Lake during the present year.

IN Kansas, Colorado, Maine, Nebraska, Minnesota, Nevada, New Hampshire, Oregon, Rhode Island and Vermont the Democrats have not one representative in Congress to advise the administration in regard to appointments to office.

THE debt of Canada has increased about $65,000,000 during the past 12 months. An increase of over $5,000,000 a month is a pretty steep increase for a country with a population of 5,000,000. The Americans are reducing their debt at the rate of $100,000,000 a year.

THE reports of a dozen banks in Quebec and Ontario have been issued. All but one tell of diminished earnings on the year ended with May last. Taking a group of nine, whose net profits in 1882-3, say 13·75 per cent on an aggregate capital of about $30,000,000, the figure fell to 11·38 per cent in 1883-4 and to 10·70 last year.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has no reason to complain of the quarterly audit made of the affairs of his trust. The balance sheet shows a good surplus to carry forward. To drop metaphor, he has been true to his inauguration promises, and he is the first President since ABRAHAM LINCOLN who has been. Other Presidents have been sincere, but they have been found lacking in will or conscience.

THERE is nothing especially symbolic or significant in a period of three months, but the press of the United States has seized upon it for the purpose of "taking stock" of the new administration. Doubtless, in this age of rapid ideas and appliances, three months is long enough in which to form a tentative judgment as to whether a new administration has proved a good, bad or indifferent bargain.

THE return of the traffic of the Canadian Pacific Railway from June 7 to June 14, posted to-day, is as follows: 1885, $147,000, and for the corresponding week of 1884, $129,000, showing an increase for this year of $18,800. The receipts for last week amounted to $169,000, showing an increase of $2200. The total receipts of the Grand Trunk for the week ending June 13 were $279,838, being a decrease over the corresponding week of last year of $36,168.

AT LIBERTY TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMES.

The Hamilton, Ontario, Spectator in discussing the recent Anti-Chinese meetings in this city says: "The Spectator has always taken the ground that Chinamen do not and cannot assimilate with the Canadian people. They do not intend or desire to become permanent settlers in Canada, to become British subjects, to conform to our customs, to learn our language, or to assist in building up the country. Consequently they are not desirable persons to have among us. They are mere parasites upon the body politic, interfering with the ordinary economic conditions of the country, and carrying away with them all they can save. We have heretofore pointed out that there was reason for the temporary employment of Chinamen on the railway works in British Columbia. The required number of white laborers for that work could not be procured. The contractors employed all they could get, and we have seen it stated lately that they would have employed many more had the men been available. They were forced to put on a large number of Chinamen in order to complete their contracts. Fortunately the work is now done, and the laborers will be at liberty to return to their homes."

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

Sufficient information has been given the public from Ottawa, that an agreement has been arrived at between the authorities at Washington and Canada on the fisheries question, and as the present treaty expires next Wednesday the news is agreeable to both nations. It is fortunate that a basis for the extension of the terms of the treaty for a few months longer has been agreed upon, for had this not been done it is certain that international bickerings, and possibly actual hostilities would constantly be taking place. The compromise is simply a continuance of the existing law until the end of the present fishing season, with the understanding that the matter will be brought before congress by the president, and the appointment of a commissioner recommended to permanently settle the question of fishery rights and privileges in North American waters. It should be noted that this is a distinct and important concession, made voluntarily by our government. By common consent the privilege of fishing in Canadian waters is one of value to the United States; of so much value, indeed, that they have been made to pay roundly for it. To this privilege they were in no way entitled after the end of the present month. To continue the status, therefore, is to favor that government. At present Canada has nothing to gain by permitting an open rupture, but none the less is her action a graceful and substantial concession. It is understood that it is made with the hope that the way will thus be paved for a possible renewal of reciprocity relations. It is worth hoping that steps in this direction may be taken, and the senseless rigidity of our international trade laws be relaxed, so as to be beneficial to both countries. At any rate, the fishery matter must be disposed of this fall, and the waiving, by the Dominion of rights which she might have put the United States to great annoyance and loss by claiming ought to be preliminary to a settlement satisfactory and profitable to both parties.

THE GOLDEN GATE AND THE C. P. R.

The San Francisco Chronicle, in its Sunday issue of the 21st inst., in referring to the C. P. R. relief resolutions being carried in the Commons at Ottawa, says that the vote will now ensure the final success of the measure, and that in a few weeks the line will be completed from Port Moody to Callander; that "the road has cost more than its competitors—the Northern Pacific, the Central Pacific and the Southern Pacific—but it is practically owned by the Dominion government. It was built not for commercial, but for political purposes, and thus its cost is a matter of no moment. It is reckoned that it will cost from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 above the receipts to run trains regularly; but this again is a matter which concerns the Dominion authorities and not the United States. The only point of interest to us is that it will furnish a new competing line to the east. An effort will of course be made to include it in the transcontinental pool. But there is a limit to what can be done in the way of pooling. The Southern Pacific of Kentucky cannot afford to pay $2,000,000 a year to buy off Canadian competition. It is doubtful whether it can really afford to pay the subsidies which it now hands over to the Northern Pacific and the Pacific Mail. A subsidy to Canada would break the camel's back. And it is doubtful whether the Dominion government would sanction a policy in hindrance of trade, and in violation of the plain principles of the common law. If the Canadian Pacific can be kept out of the transcontinental pool, it may prove of the greatest service to this state. It may compete with the Southern lines for traffic both east and west bound. The policy of the managers of the Southern Pacific of Kentucky has been such that, while under ordinary circumstances we should naturally favor our home roads in preference to foreign roads, as matters stand shippers would just as soon send their produce east by way of Canada as not."

THE SCOTT ACT AMENDMENTS

In the House of Commons on the 18th, the amendments made to the Scott Act by the Senate were considered. On the clause which gives physicians power to dispense liquor as medicine, MR. JAMIESON moved that the amendment be not concurred in, on the ground that it was contrary to the spirit of the Act to allow the same person to prescribe liquor who had an interest in its sale. MR. JAMIESON'S motion was defeated by a vote of 75 yeas to 84 nays. Among the latter were the names of MESSRS. HOWES, BAKER and SHAKESPEARE, while MESSRS. BARNARD and GORDON supported the motion. The temperance people of this city will be surprised to see MR. SHAKESPEARE supporting amendments which have been introduced for the purpose of destroying the efficiency of the Scott Act, as that gentleman poses as a friend of temperance. In the course of the debate it was shown that in one county where the Act was in force, one medical man had given 1700 certificates for liquor in one day. These certificates had to be taken to a druggist, but the new clause allows the physician to prescribe and supply the liquor. Whether the Act is a good one or not may be a debateable question, but when the ratepayers of a county have voted to adopt its provisions, they should be allowed to do so without its mutilation by politicians, many of whom are catering for the support of the liquor element.

RECIPROCITY WITH JAMAICA.

Last year an effort was made in political circles to agitate for the scheme of confederating Jamaica and the Windward Islands with Canada. The agitation was abortive, for Canadians generally felt that such a scheme would not be productive of benefit to this country. Now a delegation is in Canada from Jamaica with the view of negotiating a reciprocity treaty. How far they may be successful in their mission remains to be seen. By some, it is asserted that there are insuperable obstacles to the consummation of a reciprocity treaty of the kind suggested. In the first place it would conflict with existing treaties between the Imperial government and foreign countries. It is instanced that the treaty with Germany, which it is understood had the favored nation clause in it, but being unable to obtain a copy of the treaty here, we are unable to quote the act. Under any circumstance, it is certain the Imperial government could not sanction a treaty with Jamaica without including in it all the British possessions in the West Indies. With respect to the plea of Hon. Attorney-General Hocking, that making a treaty between Jamaica and Canada was like doing so between two of the Dominion provinces, the assertion is considered as absurd, as the latter has no legal authority to establish discriminating duties, which was the sovereign power of the Federal government alone. With respect to the advantages which it is urged Canada would derive from the proposed treaty they are entirely visionary. The only production the Island could send to Canada was raw sugar to the extent of 26,000 tons—not a third of what we require annually. To admit that free would be sacrifice of $1,000,000 of import duty. What would be the recompense that Canada would get in return for that? One hundred thousand barrels of flour might be shipped from Canada, but would a fraction of Dominion produce like that augment the price of that staple in Canada? Not at all, and so small is the consumption of agricultural produce by the natives that there would be no compensating return for Canada. That the inhabitants of the Island would extensively benefit by a treaty, SIR FRANCIS HINCKS maintains is a truism that could not be questioned. Many commercial men contend that at present it is better for Canada to maintain trade relations with this dusky weer as they now are, in short to rest and be thankful.

COULD WITHDRAW FROM THE UNION.

In defining his position on the C. P. R. question HON. EDWARD BLAKE amongst other matters said that he had also been blamed for holding the view that if British Columbia complained of the inability of Canada to complete the road in ten years, it had its remedy, which was to leave the Union. His position really was this. Canada had made what he and many others had always considered to be a foolish arrangement with British Columbia, in promising the building of a transcontinental railway in ten years. If she could not fulfil it he for his part did not wish to hold British Columbia to the bargain or to keep it within the Dominion against its will.

A Safeguard.

The fatal rapidity with which slight Colds and Coughs frequently develop into the gravest maladies of the throat and lungs, is a consideration which should impel every prudent person to keep at hand, as a household remedy, a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Nothing else gives such immediate relief and works so sure a cure in all affections of this class. That eminent physician, Prof. F. Sweetzer, of the Maine Medical School, Brunswick, Me., says:—

"Medical science has produced no other anodyne expectorant so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is invaluable for diseases of the throat and lungs."

The same opinion is expressed by the well-known Dr. L. J. Addison, of Chicago, Ill., who says:—

"I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice of medicine, any preparation of so great value as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, for treatment of diseases of the throat and lungs. It not only breaks up colds and cures severe coughs, but is more effective than anything else in relieving even the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Is not a new claimant for popular confidence, but a medicine which is to-day saving the lives of the third generation who have come into being since it was first offered to the public.

There is not a household in which this invaluable remedy has once been introduced where its use has ever been abandoned, and there is not a person who has ever given it a proper trial for any throat or lung disease susceptible of cure, who has not been made well by it.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has, in numberless instances, cured obstinate cases of chronic Bronchitis, Laryngitis, and even acute Pneumonia, and has saved many patients in the earlier stages of Pulmonary Consumption. It is a medicine that only requires to be taken in small doses, is pleasant to the taste, and is needed in every house where there are children, as there is nothing so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for treatment of Croup and Whooping Cough.

These are all plain facts, which can be verified by anybody, and should be remembered by everybody.

A LOW, SWEET VOICE.

[Opie Read in Arkansaw Traveler.]

I.

"Is this Mr. Rufus Harley?"

"Yes, sir." I replied, turning and beholding a well-dressed gentleman.

"I am Anderson Gray," said he, extending his hand.

I knew, by reputation, Mr. Anderson Gray. He was a magazine writer. His articles, by their strangeness, had attracted my attention. I was editing a weekly paper and I was said to be a humorist. It was a great surprise to me when I found that my reputation was growing; that I had become known in distant states.

"I have read many of your articles," said Mr. Gray, as he shook my hand, "and I very much admire your style. Your humor has a subdued refinement of realism. Its very lack of hilarity commends it to the readers of good literature."

I bowed my acknowledgments. I was not flattered. Macaulay, speaking of the peculiar character of Charles the Second, said that to be below flattery was quite as possible as to be above flattery. Perhaps I was below flattery.

"I have come to your town," said Mr. Gray, when we had talked during several minutes, "for the purpose of permanent location. The mildness of your climate has recommended itself to me. Here, I shall continue my magazine work. You are not a married man, I believe?"

"I am a bachelor," I replied.

"So am I. Where do you board?"

"I have a room up on Magnolia street. I take my meals at a restaurant."

"If not in any way objectionable, I would like to share your room."

"Instead of being objectionable, Mr. Gray, I shall regard it as a companionable acquisition.

"Thank you."

I found in Gray that strangeness which I had found in his articles; yet, he was an agreeable companion, regardless of the fact that there was not, in his mental constitution, a single line of humor. He was not inclined toward the tragic. He was not inclined toward the gloomy, yet, he said nothing that in the least suggested the humorous.

"Harley," he one day said to me, "did you ever know a humorist to become insane?"

"I don't know," I replied. "Perhaps they are all insane."

"Let me tell you, Harley, humor is the best evidence of sanity. The poet and the philosopher, the astronomer and scientist frequently go to the madhouse, but the humorist, alive to the foibles of humanity, keenly appreciative of lingual bulls and social mis-steps, exhibits a strength of sanity which other people must admire, but which other people cannot hope to imitate. The humorist does not kill himself. Do you know what's a fact, my dear boy? The negro does not commit suicide. Why? The negro is a humorist. The German commits suicide. Why? Because he is not a humorist."

"It is strange to me that all writers are not humorous," I replied. "Humor is so easy and so natural that I do not see how any one can keep himself from falling into it."

"The very fact that it is natural is the very fact that keeps men from falling into it," Gray rejoined. "To be natural is difficult; to be unnatural it is easy. Do you know that humorists are born?"

"Yes. If they were not born, there never would be any. Fools are also born. Circumstances do not make fools. Circumstances make wise men, however."

"My dear Harley, you are too metaphysical for a humorist. By the way, the magazine people are crowding me. They want more of my stuff. Do you know why?"

"Because it is good matter, I suppose."

"No, because it is senseless matter. No article can be so senseless that it possesses interest for sensible men. Sense is apparent, and consequently it is common. The thinkers must have something to puzzle them."

"Gray, you are a strange man."

Gray was well paid for his work. He had a learned way of saying things that I could not understand. He said that the magazine editors were easily puzzled, hence their appreciation of his work.

One day as I was walking along the hall, nearing my room, I heard Gray and a woman talking to each other, but when I entered the room, I found Gray alone.

"Did I not hear a woman's voice?"

He looked up in a surprised way. "I don't know," said he, "I have seen no woman."

Two days afterward I again heard the woman's voice. She was imploring him to love her.

"My dear husband," she said, "you know that I worship you. Why will you not love me?"

"I do love you," he replied.

I knocked on the door.

"Come in," said Gray.

I entered. No one but Gray was to be seen. There was no closet, no hiding place in the room. "Gray, I am sure that I heard a woman's voice."

"My dear humorist, men of your class are constantly hearing strange voices."

Several evenings later I lay on my bed. Gray came into my room. I had not lighted a lamp, and the room was dark. I was half asleep when he entered, and I did not speak. I heard him sit down.

"Manette," he called.

"Yes," replied a low, sweet voice.

"How long have you been here?"

"During the entire evening."

"Sit by me. You are a lovely creature, Manette. Your hair is as soft and fleecy as a summer's haze."

I struck a match. Gray sat in a rocking chair. Near him, a low stool had been drawn. I could see no woman.

"Hello, you are early," said Gray.

"Yes. I wasn't feeling very well. Say, didn't I hear a woman's voice just now?"

"I don't know."

"I think that I did."

"Did you ever hear the story of—"

"Never mind the story of any one, Gray. I would like to receive an explanation. I have, on several occasions, heard a woman's voice in this room. The woman was addressing you."

"My dear fellow," he replied, "you are certainly very strange. I did not think that humorists were given to such odd fancies."

"Gray, I do not indulge odd fancies. I am a practical man."

"A practical man, my dear Harley!"

"Yes, a practical man."

"My dear Harley, you wrote an article last week, describing the embarrassment of a young man who attended a marriage ceremony."

"Yes."

"Well, now, do you think that a practical man would write such an article?"

"To tell you the truth, Gray, I don't think that he would."

"Well, then, don't call yourself a practical man. Have you read my 'Echo of the Soul'?"

"Yes."

"What do you think of it?"

"It is a curious piece of work."

II.

I was sitting in my room one day when I heard Gray ascending the stairs. I had been so perplexed by the woman's voice that I was determined upon making an investigation. I crawled under the bed. Gray entered and sat down. He took up a book and began to read. Peeping out, I watched him. The book, after awhile, fell upon his lap. His face assumed a strange expression. His eyes, half closed, looked like the eyes of a dead man.

"Manette," he said, "do you not think that

"Yes," replied a low, sweet voice. I looked eagerly but could see no one. I am not superstitious, but I trembled violently. Listlessly, his head sank upon his breast. I could see his lips. When he spoke, his lips moved. When the low, sweet voice spoke, his lips moved.

He was speaking for himself and he was speaking for the woman. I crawled out from under the bed.

"Gray!" I exclaimed.

He jumped.

"What's the matter, Harley?"

"Who is Manette?"

He sprang to his feet and clasped his hands. His face wore a look of agony.

"I must go," said he.

I did not again mention the name to Gray. My perplexity knew no boundary lines, but I said nothing. One Saturday evening, a day when we went to press, I remained late at the office. As I ascended the stairway, leading to my room, I listened, expecting to hear the low, sweet voice, but all was still. I opened the door. The room was silent. I lighted the lamp and looked about me. Great God! Gray was stretched upon the floor, dead. His eyes were half open. In his right hand I found a folded paper. I copy the contents:

"My Dear Harley. I am dead. Oh, I am a humorist, you see. It is said that humor must be true to life. Can it not as well be true to death? You will no doubt ask yourself—it would be useless to ask me—why this tragedy was committed. It could not be avoided my dear Harley. During many years I have been insane. My wife, a beautiful woman, left me because I was crazy. Ah, poor girl, she died in a mad-house. Her name was Manette. Her hair was light and fleecy. I can see it now. Whenever I close my eyes, she comes to me. How earnestly she implores me to come to her. Had I been a humorist I should not have committed this deed. Humorists never do things which they should perform. All humorists should kill themselves, but they do not. I laugh when I think of how I have deceived the magazines. They called me a philosopher, but I was a fool. I said things which they did not understand and they thought me wise."

I buried Gray in a quiet place near town. He had often sat there, under a tree.

Several nights ago, while I was sitting in my room, I heard a low, sweet voice.

"You say, darling that my hair is as fleecy as a summer's haze?"

"Yes, angel," replied a man's voice. I looked in every corner but could see nothing.

No More Introductions in Boston.

[Boston Correspondence.]

Our "best people" are setting the ban of their displeasure upon the custom of introducing people to other people. The social lines, including guests who may be introduced to other guests, are very tightly drawn, and an invitation to people in good society to visit them does not by any means involve the probability of your becoming known to other guests. This is not taken to mean that you are not at liberty to "scrape acquaintance" with any of the lordly guests if you choose to make the attempt, but simply that the hostess considers it no part of her duty to impose your acquaintanceship upon her other friends.

There are some old families here, the bearers of pre-revolutionary names and pedigrees, who carry the absurd new notion to a ridiculous extreme. Many of these families are as poor as church mice, and have no little trouble to scrape along in their shabby gentility, but the way they hold up their social superiority is something truly agonizing. I heard a bright and cultivated young lady telling of her experience under one of these ancestral roof trees the other evening, and, as she is sensible enough to enjoy the absurdity of the whole pretentious custom, it gives her friends no little healthy amusement.

At a private musicale a few evenings since, one of the young lady guests who is a social favorite, as well as a remarkably fine amateur pianiste, was approached at the close of a brilliant performance by one of the grand and unapproachable dames, who condescended to say: "You play very well. You really must ask some one to introduce you to me!" Needless to say, the presentation has not yet been made.

Berlin's Sewerage System.

[Local Press.]

The next day we made an interesting excursion to investigate the sewerage system of Berlin. In every street of large size there are mains built of solid masonry, with interior diameters of four and six feet, which are well flushed with fresh water. These conduct their contents by the natural fall of the pipe to five short canals, which end in large reservoirs, and by means of strong pumps in iron pipes the material is forced six miles to various sterile tracts of land which surround Berlin. We also visited the main city office and one of the pumping establishments.

We then went by rail to Lutchenfelt where we were met by the director with a carriage, and drove for five hours over a farm of 4,000 acres which, by a system of irrigation, produces fine crops. Both free and convict labor is used here, and thus 250 000 cubic meters a day of the waters of the reservoirs is disposed of, and 20,000 acres of sandy desert land is made to blossom like the rose. These improvements have been completed about five years, and were four years in process of construction and cost 10,000,000.

An Actor's Hot Hour.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

Fred Warde once spent a very hot hour in Boston. It was a benefit to some old and well-known Bostonian and all the professionals were represented in the bill. Warde was down for an act of "Richard III."—the tent scene. It was a terribly hot night. Some of the jokers of the profession got hold of Warde early in the evening and kept him out of the way until it was just time for him to dress and go on. He reached the theatre. He found the dandy had heated his armor to a point that it was hardly bearable, but he had to put it on. He struggled on the stage, the perspiration breaking from every pore and washing all his make-up off. He got in the tent and while he lay asleep there they covered him with rugs and he couldn't protest. When he got off he was fairly broiled, but the jokers had disappeared and they gave him time to cool before they came near him.

Concerning "Sea Beans."

[Chicago Tribune.]

Little is certainly known relating to this singular vegetable production brought by ocean currents to the shores of Key West and Florida. These beans, of which there seem to be several varieties, are exceedingly brilliant in their shades of [illegible] white or brown edges. They vary in size from half an inch to two inches or more in diameter, are flat, and used solely as charms or manufactured into ornamental boxes. They are generally supposed to have been floated from the West Indies to our shores, and have been botanically relegated to the genus Ipomea, or that class to which our so-called morning-glories belong.

A Teacher's Opinion.

[Philadelphia Record.]

Apropos of the sudden death of a boy in a school-room recently, which was supposed to be due to overwork, Miss Whiting, a teacher of fifty years of experience in the public schools, says that children are never injured by what they have to study, but by long hours of confinement in the school-room. Upon this point, however, other well-qualified judges give a contrary opinion.

Dr. Holmes' Eyeby book owner who has grown into his library finds a bunch of nerves going to every bookcase.

The greatest gift we can bestow on others is a good example.

Among a few of the numerous points of superiority enjoyed by the patrons of this road between Omaha and Chicago, are its two trains a day of DAY COACHES, which are the finest that human art and ingenuity can create; its PALACE SLEEPING CARS, which are models of comfort and elegance; its PARLOR DRAWING ROOM CARS, unsurpassed by any; and its widely celebrated PALATIAL DINING CARS, the equal of which cannot be found elsewhere.

At Council Bluffs the trains of the Union Pacific Ry. connect in Union Depot with those of the Chicago & Northwestern Ry. In Chicago the trains of this line make close connection with those of all Eastern lines.

CITY AND PROVINCE

—Sixteen head of horses for Charles Buller arrived by the Olympian to-day.

—An effort is being made to get Mr. Roland Green to return to the city, and it is probable that it will prove successful.

—Consignees by the Eliza Anderson to-day were: R C Janion and Mrs. Semmock.

—We regret to learn that Mr. Edgar Fawcett is unwell. It is supposed to be hay fever.

—A young alligator, from New Orleans, is on exhibition in Moore & Co's window. It is about ten inches long.

—The members of the new Commercial Club met to-day at 3 o'clock for the purpose of organization.

—Several smart boys can find light and profitable employment selling the DAILY TIMES on the street, by applying at this office.

—Mr. George Byrnes found a tenant for the furnished house advertised by him to rent. It pays every time to advertise in THE TIMES.

Letters are detained for postage addressed to: Mrs. M. Jackson, Nanaimo; John Deck, Yakima, W. T.; Mrs. Capt. McDonald, Souris, P. E. I.

—Capt. J. A. Clarke, made sale of lot No. 32, block No. 2, Port Moody, to a Mr. Edwards, of Okanagan, on Wednesday, for $1000.

—The new mail and express car built at Yale for this division of the C. P. R., made her first trip to Port Moody on Wednesday.

A correspondent reports that Mr. O. B. Ackerman was unanimously elected school trustee for Upper Sumas at a large and harmonious school meeting.

A siwash and a Chinaman were run in today by Officer Grant—the latter having sold the former a bottle of strongly diluted rye for one dollar. John was steered to the jug by his pigtail.

—The closing exercises at Angela college, of which Mrs. Dupont is principal, were held yesterday, and were of a very interesting character. The prizes were presented by the Lord Bishop of Columbia.

—Master Rather Wilson, of the junior division of the High school, whose name was omitted from the honor roll yesterday, was promoted from the second to the first division, receiving the prize in mensuration.

The prize awarded in the senior division of the high school for truthfulness, by Mr. James Fell, was awarded by vote of the whole school to Fred Jackson. The Colonist ignored the prize, probably owing to its dislike for the giver of the prize and the virtue for which it was given.

—Denver Times:—Laura Dainty, who has previously appeared in Denver, first in readings and then in "A Mountain Pink," re-appeared at the Tabor Grand last night in the play. The improvement Miss Dainty showed between her two first visits, (though great), was not nearly so marked as that made by her since she played a year ago. It would be difficult to imagine a more perfect Sincerity Weeks' than she makes.

—The Olympian brought freight for: Baker & F, Welch R & Co, W Nilloby, J Oliver, T D Pope, E G Prior, D E Campbell, S Leiser, M R Robbins, T Cunnington, Hurst Bros, S J Pitts, S Clay, Neufelder & Ross, Marvin & Tilton, S L Kelly & Co, A Mayer & Co, Fell & Co, C Buller, R T Williams, T N Hibben & Co, D W Higgins, Mrs A Buck, J Teid, T N Pearson, J Seid, M W Waitt & Co, Brunswick B Co, T Shotbolt, H Short, M R & Tye, A Cowan, J H Todd & Son.

UPPER CASSIAR.

The Stickeen river is unusually high, so much so that freight canoes cannot be taken up. The crops in the vicinity of Glenora and Telegraph creek, were never better. Trains have made several trips to head of Dease Lake, finding feed on the trail excellent.

In the mines, miners were at work in earnest (June 6th) and preparing to reap their golden harvest.

The new claim at the mud slide, on Dease creek, mentioned last month, promises to be the best in the country. The first four days work of two men, after having the necessary preparations made, produced 25¼ ounces of gold, worth $420, from four sets of timbers. The fortunate owners J. McCrimmon and Malcolm McClure, deserve their good luck as they have had an uphill fight for some years and have been persistently trying to develope the "Marquis of Lorne" and have at last succeeded.

But little of note is to be recorded from there at this early part of the mining season.

Mr. John Mitchell, who has been acting Recorder at McDame creek, and who is a well known pioneer of this province, was very sick and scarcely expected to recover. James Chaplain & Company, were fitting out at Dease creek for a prospecting tour on the upper waters of the De Loire river, as on a former trip. Mr. Chaplin got such prospects as induces him to return.

Jananschek in "Zilah."

Md'me Jananschek's appearance last evening in "Zilah," the fortune teller, did not draw nearly as large a house as the performance deserved. Either our theater goers do not appreciate the higher phase of the dramatic art, or the prices of admission were placed too high. Probably the latter reason was the cause of the light patronage extended to this celebrated actress. The performance last evening was faultless. The pathos and feeling shown by Mme. Jananschek in the title role rendered each scene of the piece deeply interesting and drew frequent outbursts of applause from the enraptured audience. The support, as on the previous evening, was of a high order of merit. Miss Helen Rand as "Francesca," and Miss Virginia Nelson as the "Countess Donati" were all that art and a thorough conception of their parts could make them, while the remainder of the cast was all that could be desired. Jananschek is beyond question a great actress, but has not been properly appreciated in this city. Mr. G. K. Beede, the enterprising manager of the Sound circuit, deserves the thanks of our theater goers for the excellent companies which he is bringing here, and it is to be hoped that with the opening of the new opera house, his efforts will be more thoroughly appreciated.

Excursion to Esquimalt.

The pupils of the high and public schools, together with many of their parents and friends, the teachers and members of the Board of Trustees, to the number of about eight hundred, went on an excursion to Esquimalt this afternoon, having here at 3 p. m. At Esquimalt, H. M. ship Constance was visited, the children going through in squads of about one hundred, under the superintendence of their teachers. The officers of the Constance were most attentive to their numerous youthful guests, and the delight of the latter was simply unbounded.

THE WATER WORKS.

Annual Inspection by the City Council and City Officials.

The water works at Elk lake were inspected yesterday by the city council. The party comprised: His Worship Mayor Rithet, Councillors Teague, Earle, Grant, Ward, Braden, E. Johnson, S. M. T. Russell, water commissioner; J. D. Robertson, city clerk; W. Leech, city surveyor; A. Hendry, engineer, and representatives of the Colonist and TIMES. Carriages left the city hall at 9:30 a. m., and immediately upon arriving at the party proceeded to inspect the premises. Snider's Hill, where the main was recently lowered six feet was first visited. The alteration effected here is believed to have increased the water supply of the city fully twenty-five or thirty per cent. The filtering beds were found in a satisfactory condition, the water in the receiving reservoir, which is just from the filters, being to all appearances as pure and limpid as a mountain spring. A large volume of filtered wafer was steadily pouring into the reservoir, and the capacity of the works and the extent of the supply was shown by the quantity in reserve here. Although at midday, when the consumption in the city is at a maximum, the level of the water had only been reduced about one foot, and there was still left in the large retaining walls an average depth of nine feet of water. Everything about the filter beds was found in a remarkably clean condition, and the buildings covering them are neatly white washed. If there is anything impure or objectionable in the water supplied to our citizens which deponent would not hazard his reputation to deny—the cause must be sought for elsewhere, and possibly it would be found in the excessive quantity of that lines the shores and floats on the surface of Beaver Lake, from which the water immediately flows into the filters. Boarding a small scow, which was christened on the spot the "Water Commissioner's Gondola," the party were rowed to the upper end of Elk Lake. In Beaver Lake Mr. Hendry pointed out a number of small floating islands, which continually drift about with the wind. The trees that line the shores are submerged for several feet, and in one or two places a green scum was seen floating among the water lillies, whose broad leaves covered the surface here and there like a floating carpet of green. Farther up, in Elk Lake, which is a beautiful sheet of water covering several hundred acres, there was nothing of this kind, the depth of water probably being too great. Here the water was sampled and found pure and sweet. A glass full, held to the light, was clear and crystalline, and apparently free from any sedimentary or vegetable matter. The quantity would appear to be practically unlimited, and at least for fifty years to come Victoria need have no fear that her

THE WATER WORKS

DECAYED VEGETABLE MATTER

SUPPLY OF FRESH WATER

will be inadequate to meet all demands. Even in the driest season the mean level of the lakes is not reduced a foot lower than the point at which it now stands and it is now within a few feet of the top of the dam. The trip to the head of Elk Lake and back again to the landing, was far from an uninteresting or monotonous one. A discussion on the practicability of disposing of the floating islands was varied by a series of anecdotes about the early days; learned dissertations on profane history were followed by pungent stories from the well-stocked repertoires of several Councillors, whose proficiency in the art of story-telling, and whose ability "to point a moral and adorn a tale," were indicative of careful and assiduous study. Disembarking, the party resumed their carriages and returned to Steven's Hotel, where about 3 p. m. The host of that popular hostelry excelled all his previous efforts, and provided a repast that would have reflected credit on a Paris chef." After dinner, Mayor Rithet proposed "The Queen" and the "Chairman of the Water Committee," which were duly honored. Mr. Smith replied, and afterwards a number of volunteer toasts were proposed and responded to. About six p. m., carriages were ordered and the company returned to the city.

DINNER WAS SERVED

THESE PERIODICAL VISITS,

although viewed by some electors more in the light of holiday tours than business inspections, must be productive of good. The Councillors, especially the new members, require to view the lakes before they can have a correct conception of one of the most important subjects with which they have to deal, and having done so they will be in a position to legislate more intelligently on the question than they otherwise would. The visit yesterday was the first one made to the lakes by several of the councillors, and the first in a number of years by the majority of the party. The general opinion was that the supply of water is practically inexhaustible, that the works proper are in a satisfactory condition, and that the water is naturally pure and wholesome, and only requires the removal of the excessive quantity of vegetable matter to make it everything that it could possibly be desired to be.

Another False Alarm.

The necessity for a better fire alarm system was very fully illustrated last evening. An alarm was given by telephone, and through some misunderstanding or wrong information the steamer and hose carts started in the direction of Rock Bay bridge, the scene of the fire it was supposed being Seward's saw mill. The astonishment of the crowd was great when a lurid flame, shooted up in an exactly opposite direction, clearly defined the locality of the fire. A pile of rubbish was being burned in James Bay ward, and this was probably the cause for the false alarm. We require an improvement in the system of alarm.

Coming to Victoria.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The George W. Elder, which left San Francisco today, carries the following passengers for Victoria: Mrs J Jones, George Hebbert, Rev G Littledale, Mrs Armstrong, A W Lypolt, H L Guilline, Miss (2), H F Ried and wife, Mrs Eckstein and daughter, Mrs W H Scott, Mrs George Grant, William Burke, C Hefley, Mrs J W Booth, J Moody, E Tucker, Mrs W S Chandler, Miss Lizzie Stafford, Mrs Chas Sherwood.

Leech River Mining.

At present considerable prospecting for gold is being carried on at Leech river. In a few days further developments are expected. Parties who are sinking in an old channel are getting very encouraging prospects. As is well known a large quantity of gold, in years gone by, was received from these mines.

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY

A Rice Mill to be Added to those Already Established in Victoria.

Thirty Tons of Cleaned Rice to be Turned out Every Twenty-four Hours.

The Mount Royal Milling company, of Montreal, recently leased the extensive premises fronting on Store street and the harbor, known as the Dickson, Campbell & Co. property, for a term of years, with the view of erecting thereon an extensive rice mill. The company have been engaged in a similar business in Montreal for the past four years, and are well known throughout the eastern provinces for the

EXCELLENCE AND PURITY OF THEIR RICE

and the product thereof. Being determined to take advantage of the completion of the C. P. R. the company delegated one of its members to visit this province to make a thorough investigation into the rice trade. That gentleman, Mr. Thomas B. Hall, has made Victoria his headquarters for some time back. He went about his mission in a quiet systematic manner, visited many sections of the province and then submitted his report. It was then decided that

A MILL SHOULD BE ERECTED IN VICTORIA.

Premises were secured as already noted and arrangements at once made to proceed with the structure. The addition to the old stone building is now being roofed in. It is a three-story one and will hold machinery capable of turning out thirty tons of cleaned rice every twenty-four hours. The machinery, which will be of the company's own manufacture, will be of the most modern and approved description and embrace many machines of their own invention, specially adapted to the production of a first-class article in every respect, such as it now supplies to the eastern trade. The mill here will be known as

THE VICTORIA RICE MILLS.

The raw material will be imported direct from the rice fields of China in the hulls, the rice in that state being known as "paddy." On its arrival here it will be raised by an elevator into the building and then the process of cleansing and purifying will be begun. So intricate is this that ere the article is put in the market it has to undergo six distinct processes. When finished the product will be put up in packages varying from 5 to 50 and 100 lbs., and will embrace not only rice and the flour of rice but many other lines that are the product of rice and used daily in connection with domestic and household economy. It is expected that in addition to supplying the local market the company's business will extend eastward as far as Lake Superior. The refuse of the rice has been thoroughly tested in the east and in England for cattle, horses, hogs and poultry, and pronounced to be very valuable for this purpose. The demand there is great, here a new market for this class of food for animals has to be created, and we understand that arrangements are now in progress to start an extensive hog ranche not far from the city wherein to consume the refuse and waste. This will be the second mill of the kind in the Dominion, and outside of San Francisco the only one of its kind on the north Pacific coast. Employment will be given to twenty-five to thirty men, the year round, whose families will reside in the city. The locating of such an establishment here will be production of much good to the city, as it undoubtedly will lead to the starting up of

AS AN ARTICLE OF FOOD

OTHER KINDRED CONCERNS.

A cargo of rice is now on its way thither to this port, and expected to arrive shortly. An effort is being made to push the work on so as the mill will be in running order by about the beginning of next September. Mr. Hall the local manager, is an energetic gentleman, well up in his business and doubtless will give a good account of himself. THE TIMES wishes the enterprise the largest measure of success and trusts ere long to chronicle other new ventures being established in our midst.

OUR ALPINE RANGE.

Gorgeous Mountain Scenery—Glaciers 250 Feet in Thickness.

Immense Timber Growth—An Army of Railway Men at Work.

Dr. Lynch, of Winnipeg, has furnished the Free Press of that city with an account of his trip to the mountains in eastern British Columbia. The doctor said that he had gone as far west as the Beaver river, about midway between the first and second crossings of the Columbia, or, in other words, the summit of the Selkirks—the name given to the range of mountains looped in by the British portion of the Columbia river in its long northern sweep and return to the boundary line.

THE C. P. R. GRADES.

The doctor believes that the grades difficulty has been completely overcome so far as any danger to traffic is to be apprehended—since the employment of the consolidated engines. We came up with fourteen cars and a single consolidated engine at the rate of seven miles an hour. One forgets the grade, however, and everything else when descending the Kicking Horse Pass, in an overawing sense of its wild grandeur. That eight miles from Hector to Field surpasses everything. As you stand on the rear platform of the train half way down the grade the scenery culminates in indescribable beauty, Mount Stephen on the left, towering almost perpendicularly to a height of nine thousand feet, ice capped

WITH A GLACIER 250 FEET IN THICKNESS,

looking in the enormous distance like a white chalk line. Mount Field on the opposite side of the canyon, 7000 feet from the bottom of the valley, and Kicking Horse foaming in almost a lead line 1800 feet below, it makes your head whirl, and leaves a stunned feeling for hours. Dr. Edmunds' glacier at Laggan is very pretty, but there are others much finer. That on Castle or Abbey mountain, near Kicking Horse Lake, is much more imposing and at the same time more accessible, though higher. The Columbia at the first crossing is about the size of the Assiniboine at high water here, but rapid and clear. The railway follows its course—overhangs it in fact—from a point this side of the crossing to the mouth of the Beaver, where the line then takes the valley of the latter, a rampant stream of the same character as the Kicking Horse. The Rocky mountains are to the fullest what their name suggests, masses of bald rock jutting into the clouds above a low stunted tree-line, standing apart from, and frowning at each other over quiet, little, grassy parks nestled at their feet, with always a stream winding through. The Selkirks are earth mountains densely clothed with from their summits to the valleys, where the branches appear almost to interlace over the dividing streams, so closely are they piled. From the summit of the Rocky Mountains westward an increase in size of the trees is perceptible at every mile.

All danger from snow slides it is now believed, has been avoided by the adoption in several places for some distance through the Selkirks of a different line from that at first fixed upon, by making a few short detours, which will lengthen the road about five miles, but from observations made during the past two winters by engineers on the spot, will altogether avoid any trouble except from some small slides, which can be rendered harmless by a few snow sheds, now being constructed. I cannot conceive of than those already met with and conquered, in fact, I believe there are none. The road is virtually built. Mr. Ross and his engineers seem to have been deterred by no obstacles and have never yielded. He has marched an army across the continent in the face of constantly threatened defeat. He must often have been dismayed but he has triumphed in the end and accomplished an exploit which independently altogether of its manifold results and the great national interests surrounding it will always rank among the great events of this century.

The rails are laid to Donald station, 20 miles beyond the east crossing of the Columbia, thence to the Beaver ponies had to be taken. Work is progressing rapidly along the whole of the uncompleted line through the Selkirks. Some delays have occurred with the bridging, but this has not checked the general progress of the rock work and grading, as supplies are now being brought in from the other end by steamer up the Columbia to the second crossing.

SIX THOUSAND MEN ARE AT WORK

west of the first crossing. We were some days at the front passing through and living among the camps, and the opinions of any one accustomed to regard the lot of a railway laborer as a hard one must undergo an extraordinary change on witnessing their comfortable quarters, and partaking of one of their well cooked meals, where everything is provided in abundance, and of the very best quality. In addition to this they receive high wages, free transport to and from the work, and excellent medical attendance.

TRAINS TO THE SECOND CROSSING.

Within the next two months trains will certainly be running to the second crossing of the Columbia River and beyond, by which time the army of workmen will have reached the remaining short space between there and the British Columbia section, and there now appears to be no doubt but that the line will be completed through to the Pacific long before snow flies."

MARINE NOTES.

The Evangel arrived this morning.

The Nagpore, from Hull, Eng., with a cargo of rails for the Island railway is due at this harbor.

The Olympian arrived about 11 o'clock and returned to the Sound in the afternoon.

Anti-Chinese Meeting.

The meeting of the Anti-Chinese League, at Harmony Hall last evening was largely attended. Mr. Duval, who occupied the chair, explained that it was proposed to form ward divisions of the association to relieve the central association of a part of its duties, and to assist in extending the objects of the league. Messrs Tuckfield, Dods, Powers, Stewart, Wilby and others spoke in favor of the proposal. An address to the Chinese merchants, deprecating further importations of Chinese coolies, was read. It warned these men to leave the country before it was too late. An agreement was unanimously arrived at to boycott all parties who employ Chinese in any capacity. Mr. McGregor was appointed executive officer for the north division and Mr. Tuckfield for the south, and the meeting adjourned.
